Fourteenth International Doctoral Workshop in Ethnomusicology

Center for World Music (CWM) at the University of Hildesheim
& Hanover University of Music, Drama and Media (HMTMH)
18th – 21st June 2024

The Center for World Music at the University of Hildesheim and Hanover University of Music, Drama and Media are pleased to announce the fourteenth annual workshop for PhD candidates in ethnomusicology. Through paper presentations, discussion and working groups, the workshop offers a unique environment for 16 doctoral students at the writing stage for their PhD dissertations to engage in international dialogue and exchange, and expand critical debate on recent research within the discipline. The workshop will be directed by Prof. Dr. Philip V. Bohlman (Chicago/Hanover), Prof. Dr. Rasika Ajotikar (Hildesheim), Dr. Yongfei Du (Hanover), Dr. Michael Fuhr (Hildesheim), and Prof. Dr. Raimund Vogels (Hildesheim/Hanover).

The organizers invite applications from PhD candidates researching in the field of ethnomusicology or a related discipline. There are no restrictions concerning the region of study or the thematic focus. We especially encourage applications from PhD students who have completed field or archival work and are in the process of turning their research into a dissertation. Room and board will be covered by the Center for World Music and Hanover University of Music, Drama and Media, but participants are expected to secure funding to cover travel costs themselves. The workshop will take place in Hildesheim, with arrival on Tuesday, 18th June and departure on Saturday, 22nd June. The workshop language – presentations and discussion – will be English.

PhD candidates interested in participating should send an abstract of 250 words and a short CV (two pages maximum) by 15th January 2024. Notification of the success of your application will be sent by the end of January. Auditors are also welcome and must register by 15th May 2024, but room and board will be at their own expense.

Please send all applications and inquiries to:
Dr. Yongfei Du (yongfei.du@hmtm-hannover.de)

Please forward this call to anyone interested.
